

Control

---

Some words can have more than one job. Some words can be nouns, verbs, adjectives, etc...

One example is the word control.

I. Look at the examples below. What parts of speech does control have?

1. It is a complex operation with general lack of control over the results; however, the process
2. This is done so that the best use is made of control points, crews, and equipment.
3. nature conservation and bringing the land under the control of a relevant government departments.
4. You can do this on many systems. (type Control-C, hold down the Control key while pressing the C key.)
5. In Chapter 6, Newton's second law is the control volume approach, yielding the momentum principle.
6. When pulled out, the control rods capture fewer neutrons.
7. The system within the boundaries is called the control volume.
8. rate of accumulation or depletion of fluid within a control volume can be estimated.
9. They are as difficult in their way to control as nonpoint-source pollution's effects on
10. Cities have taken giant steps to try to control runoff
11. state that the classes must remember to be able to control the elevator.
12. The statement often uses a single variable to control loop iteration and loop ending.
13. However, it makes it difficult to control the carrier in the operation.
14. Waste minimization is, in fact, the method of control specified by the Montreal Protocol.
15. It allows you to write programs whose flow of control is so involved that it is almost impossible

Write the sentence number next to the part of speech for the word control.

Noun: 1

Verb:

Adjective:

Other:

Control

---

What do you notice about the word control from the information above?

III. Based on the information in parts I and II, circle yes if the sentence is common usage or no if the usage is uncommon. Also, identify what part of speech the word control is in each sentence.

1. The processor acts as a control device for the system.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

2. We want the pipe for control in water flow in the field.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

3. The engineer said that it was a problem with the control of the AE-35 unit.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

4. We need this equipment to control the flow of electrical energy in the circuit.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

5. Usually, at this point, there is a general lack on control over the results.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

6. The computer makes it easy to control the motion of the airplane when the weather is very bad.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

Control

---

7. It is the best time control in the volume.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

8. To control on the flow of water, you need keep the volume the same.

yes    no

part of speech: _____

IV. Now, it's your turn. Write three sentences with the word control. Use control as a verb, noun and noun acting as an adjective (e.g. control volume)

Verb:

---

---

Noun:

---

---

Adjective:

---

---